UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

RICHARD ERIC ROSS,
Petitioner,
v.
SCOTT KERNAN, Secretary,
Respondent.

Case No.: 17cv0953-JAH (RBB)

REPORT AND RECOMMENDATION OF UNITED STATES MAGISTRATE
JUDGE RE: DENYING PETITION FOR WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS
[ECF NO. 1]

Richard Eric Ross, a state prisoner proceeding by and through counsel, has filed a Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2254 with an attached Memorandum of Law [ECF No. 1]. He challenges his San Diego County Superior Court conviction on thirteen counts of sex crimes against two young girls, for which he is serving a sentence of 120 years to life plus 17 years in state prison. (Pet. 1, ECF No. 1.) The Petition presents a single claim, that Ross received ineffective assistance of counsel due to the failure of his trial counsel to present testimony from a child abuse pediatric expert that the girls should have undergone physical examinations which would have easily proved or disproved their allegations. (Pet. Mem. 5-7, ECF No. 1 Attach. #2.)

On August 21, 2017, the Attorney General for the State of California responded by filing an Answer on behalf of Scott Kernan, the Secretary of the California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation [ECF No. 7], with an attached Memorandum of Points and

1 Authorities [ECF No. 7 Attach. #1], and a Notice of Lodgment [ECF No. 8]. Petitioner
2 filed a Traverse on September 5, 2017 [ECF No. 9], with a Notice of Lodgment [ECF No.
3 9 Attach. #1], and exhibits [ECF No. 9 Attachs. #2-4]. He filed a Supplemental Notice of 4 Lodgment on September 13, 2017 [ECF No. 11]. Respondent filed a Supplemental 5 Notice of Lodgment on September 20, 2017 [ECF No. 12].

6 For the reasons set forth herein, the Court finds that the state court adjudication of 7 Petitioner’s claim is neither contrary to, nor involves an unreasonable application of,
8 clearly established federal law, and is not based on an unreasonable determination of the 9 facts in light of the evidence presented in the state court proceedings. The Court
10 RECOMMENDS the Petition be DENIED.

11 I. PROCEDURAL BACKGROUND

12 On October 25, 2012, the San Diego County District Attorney’s Office filed an 13 eighteen-count amended information charging Richard Eric Ross with sexual penetration 14 of Hannah C., a child ten years old or younger, in violation of California Penal Code 15 (“Penal Code”) § 288.7(b) (count one); committing a forcible lewd act upon Hannah in 16 violation of Penal Code § 288(b)(1) (count two); and committing a lewd act upon Hannah 17 in violation of Penal Code § 288(a) (count three). (Lodgment No. 1, Clerk’s Tr. vol. 1, 18 0078-85, Oct. 25, 2012, ECF No. 8 Attach. #1 (amended information).) Petitioner was 19 also charged with four counts of oral copulation of Breanna L., a child ten years of age or 20 younger, in violation of Penal Code § 288.7(b) (counts four, five, seven, and fourteen); 21 six counts of committing a lewd act upon Breanna in violation of Penal Code § 288(a) 22 (counts six, nine, eleven, thirteen, sixteen and eighteen); two counts of sexual intercourse 23 with Breanna in violation of Penal Code § 288.7(a) (counts eight and seventeen); and 24 three counts of sexual penetration of Breanna in violation of Penal Code § 288.7(b) 25 (counts ten, twelve and fifteen). (Id.) As to counts two, three, six, nine, eleven, thirteen, 26 sixteen, and eighteen, it was alleged the offenses were committed against more than one 27 victim within the meaning of Penal Code § 667.61(b)(c)(e), and that substantial sexual 28 conduct occurred within the meaning of Penal Code § 1203.066(a)(8). (Id.)

1 On April 4, 2014, a jury found Petitioner not guilty on count one but guilty of the 2 lesser included offense of attempted sexual penetration, not guilty on counts eight, nine, 3 seventeen, and eighteen, and guilty on the remaining counts. (Lodgment No. 1, Clerk's 4 Tr. vol. 2, 0443-63, Apr. 4, 2012, ECF No. 8 Attach. #2 (verdicts).) The jury found that 5 substantial sexual conduct occurred with Hannah as to two counts, substantial sexual 6 conduct occurred with Breanna as to four counts, and an offense was committed against 7 more than one victim as to two counts. (Id. at 0445-46, 0449, 0455, 0457, 0460.) The 8 jury returned not true findings that substantial sexual contact occurred as to one count or 9 that an offense was committed against more than one victim as to four counts. (Id. at 10 0445, 0449, 0455, 0460.)

11 On August 7, 2014, Ross filed a motion for a new trial alleging he received 12 ineffective assistance of counsel because his trial attorney failed to present exculpatory 13 evidence and failed to allow him to testify on his own behalf. (Id. at 0306-22.) The new 14 trial motion was denied on September 26, 2014, following an evidentiary hearing at 15 which Ross and his trial counsel testified. (Id. at 0466.) He was immediately thereafter 16 sentenced to 120 years to life plus 17 years in state prison. (Id. at 0467-68.)

17 Petitioner appealed, presenting the same claims he raised in the new trial motion.
18 (Lodgment No. 3, Appellant's Opening Brief, People v. Ross, No. D066786 (Cal. Ct.
19 App. [filed June 23, 2015]), ECF No. 8 Attach. #7; see also Lodgment No. 4, 20 Respondent's Brief, People v. Ross, No. D066786 (Cal. Ct. App. [filed Aug. 13, 2015]), 21 ECF No. 8 Attach #8; Lodgment No. 5, Appellant's Reply Brief, People v. Ross, No.
22 D066786 (Cal. Ct. App. [filed Sept. 3, 2015]), ECF No. 8 Attach. #9.) On January 15, 23 2015, the appellate court affirmed in all respects. (Lodgment No. 8, People v. Ross, No.
24 D066786, slip op. (Cal. Ct. App. Jan. 15, 2016), ECF No. 8 Attach. #12.) On February 25 22, 2016, Ross filed a petition for review in the California Supreme Court raising the 26 same claims. (Lodgment No. 10, Petition for Review, People v. Ross, No. [S232585] 27 (Cal. [filed Feb. 22, 2016]), ECF No. 8 Attach. #14.) The petition was summarily denied.

2 Attach. #15.)

3 On October 27, 2015, parallel with his direct appeal, Ross filed a habeas petition in 4 the state appellate court raising the same claim presented here. (Lodgment No. 6, In re 5 Ross, No. [D069126] (Cal. Ct. App. [filed Oct. 27, 2015]) (petition for writ of habeas 6 corpus), ECF No. 8 Attach. #10.) The People filed an informal response on December 3, 7 2015. (Lodgment No. 7, In re Ross, No. D069126 (Cal. Ct. App. [filed Dec. 3, 2015])
8 (informal response), ECF No. 8 Attach. #11.) Ross's reply brief was rejected as 9 untimely. (See Pet. Mem. 34, ECF No. 1 Attach. #2.) On January 15, 2015, the appellate 10 court denied habeas relief. (Lodgment No. 9, In re Ross, No. D069126, slip op. (Cal. Ct.
11 App. Jan. 15, 2016), ECF No. 8 Attach. #13.) Ross filed a habeas petition in the 12 California Supreme Court on February 26, 2016, which raised the claim presented here.
13 (Lodgment No. 12, In re Ross, No. [S232822] (Cal. [filed Feb. 26, 2016]) (petition for 14 writ of habeas corpus), ECF No. 12 Attach. #1.) The petition was summarily denied.
15 (Lodgment No. 13, In re Ross, No. S232822, order (Cal. May 18, 2016), ECF No. 12 16 Attach. #2.)

17 II. FACTUAL BACKGROUND

18 Tami R. testified that she was married to Allan L. from 1996 to 2007, and they had 19 one child, Breanna L., born on June 12, 2004. (Lodgment No. 2, Rep.'s Appeal Tr. vol.
20 2, 45-46, Mar. 27, 2014, ECF No. 8 Attach. #4.) After their marriage ended in 2007, 21 Tami moved from Oregon to San Diego, while Breanna stayed in Oregon with Allan 22 pending custody arrangements. (Id. at 47-48.) Allan moved to San Diego in May 2008, 23 where Breanna spent equal amounts of time with Allan and Tami. (Id. at 50.) In January 24 2009, while living in San Diego, Tami began a relationship with a mutual friend of hers 25 and Allan's, Richard Eric Ross, who they called Eric. (Id. at 48-49.) Tami, Ross, and 26 Breanna lived together in the UTC area of La Jolla where Breanna attended kindergarten 27 and first grade. (Id. at 49, 55.) In 2009 or 2010, Allan married Melissa L., whose 28 ///

1 daughter Hannah was within a year of Breanna's age, and the two girls came to consider 2 each other sisters. (Id. at 51-52.)

3 Tami and Ross moved to Poway in May 2011, where Hannah and Breanna 4 attended the same school. (Id. at 53-54, 57.) Ross occasionally took the girls to school, 5 picked Breanna up after school, and stayed with her alone in the house until Tami 6 returned home from work. (Id. at 57-58.) During the course of Tami's sexual 7 relationship with Ross, the two of them used a pink plastic dildo she purchased before 8 their relationship began, a silver bullet dildo he purchased before their relationship began, 9 as well as a clear lubricant, all of which they kept in a drawer in a bedroom nightstand.
10 (Id. at 58-61.) One day in early 2012, Ross called Tami at work and said he found the 11 silver bullet dildo on in the nightstand, thought it might be a fire hazard, and wanted her 12 to know he had thrown it away. (Id. at 61.) She did not see it in the house again after 13 that day. (Id. at 76-77.)

14 On May 21, 2012, Hannah, Allan and Melissa's daughter, was dropped off at 15 Tami's house before Tami went to work. (Id. at 68-69.) As Tami was arriving at work, 16 Ross called and said Hannah tried to run away as he was taking the girls to school, and he 17 tore his Achilles tendon chasing her. (Id. at 68.) Several police cars were in front of her 18 house when Tami came home. (Id. at 72.) Allan told Tami he had asked Hannah if Ross 19 had touched her inappropriately, and Hannah said "yes." (Id. at 93-94.) Tami then asked 20 Breanna if what Allan told Tami was true, and Breanna said "yes." (Id. at 73.) Hannah 21 and Breanna went to Allan and Melissa's house while Tami took Ross to the hospital.
22 (Id.) Tami said Child Protective Services visited her home on June 1, 2012, in order to 23 ensure it was a safe environment for Breanna. (Id. at 74.) Ross temporarily moved out a 24 few days before the visit and took with him anything she thought might reflect 25 negatively, including the sex toys and lubricant in the nightstand, alcohol, guns, and 26 ammunition. (Id. at 74-75, 90-91.)

27 Tami said she met Ross, a real estate agent, in 2001, while she was still married to 28 Allan, when he helped them sell their condominium, and they met again when Tami and 1 Ross were in a wedding party in July 2007. (Id. at 76-78, 83, 91.) At that wedding, on 2 just one occasion, Tami, Ross, and Allan had a sexual encounter together. (Id. at 83-84.)

3 Tami and Allan separated a couple of months later, and she began dating Ross in October 4 2007. (Id. at 83.) Tami described Allan and Ross as cordial acquaintances who did not 5 socialize with each other. (Id. at 84-85.)

6 Breanna L. testified that she would turn ten years old on June 12, 2014, and her 7 stepsister Hannah is eleven years old. (Id. at 96-97, 99.) They attend the same school, 8 where Breanna is in fourth grade and Hannah in fifth. (Id. at 100.) Breanna said Ross, 9 who she calls Eric, has lived with her and her mother since she was little, and she could 10 remember them having lived together in three different houses. (Id. at 100-02.) Every 11 other week Breanna stayed at Hannah’s house with Melissa and Allan. (Id. at 108.)

12 Breanna said that when they lived in the second house, when Tami was at work 13 and she was alone with Ross, while she was unclothed, he used his mouth twice (counts 14 four and five) and his hand once (count six) to touch her “private part” located under her 15 stomach where her pee comes out. (Id. at 103-07.) When she was asked if he touched 16 the inside or the outside of her private part, she said, “I think it was only the outside, 17 maybe.” (Id. at 105.) When asked similar questions, she answered “I’m pretty sure the 18 outside,” and “I think on the outside.” (Id. at 110-11.) They were living in the third 19 house when the police came. (Id. at 107.) In the living room of the third house, Ross 20 touched the outside of her unclothed private part with his mouth (count seven) and his 21 hand (count thirteen); and in the bedroom of that house, he touched her private part with 22 his mouth (count fourteen) and hand (count sixteen). (Id. at 110-12.) She said as far as 23 she knew he never touched his penis to her private part.¹ (Id. at 118.)

24 ///

25
26
27 ¹ The only counts involving Breanna of which Ross was acquitted were counts eight and seventeen, 28 alleging sexual intercourse with a child ten years old or younger, and the lesser included offenses of attempted sexual intercourse, and counts nine and eighteen, each charging him with a lewd act upon a child. (Lodgment No. 1, Clerk’s Tr. vol. 2, 0451-53, 0461-63, ECF No. 8 Attach. #2.)

1 Breanna asked him to stop touching her, but Ross just said, “It’s okay” and “don’t 2 tell anybody.” (Id. at 109.) On more than one occasion, Ross put “a little buzzy toy” that 3 ran on batteries on the inside (count ten) and outside (count eleven) of her private part.
4 (Id. at 112-15.) At some point, Breanna told Ross she did not want him to use it anymore 5 and he said he would throw it away, but did not, and then said she could throw it away, 6 which she did. (Id. at 113.) On one occasion when they were both unclothed, Ross put a 7 liquid from a small bottle that looked like water on her private part, and then “peed on 8 me, in my private part, the one below the stomach.” (Id. at 117-19.) He also touched her 9 legs and her “other private part that’s above the stomach” with his mouth “more than 10 once, but not very often.” (Id. at 119-20.) She denied ever looking into the drawers of 11 the bedside nightstand. (Id. at 148.)

12 Breanna said that on the morning the police came to her house, Hannah and she 13 were in Ross and Tami’s bed watching television with Hannah under the covers and 14 Breanna on top of the covers. (Id. at 121-22.) Ross came in and laid on the bed, with 15 Hannah between them. (Id. at 122-23.) Ross got under the covers, and Breanna said she 16 was “pretty sure he started touching Hannah,” although Breanna could not see what was 17 happening, and then Hannah ran to the bathroom looking scared. (Id. at 124.) Breanna 18 asked Ross if they could have a snack, and he gave snacks to Breanna who passed one to 19 Hannah through the bathroom door. (Id. at 125.) Hannah told Breanna that Ross had 20 touched her, and said “I’m scared, and I’m freaking out.” (Id. at 125-26.)

21 Hannah told Breanna she was going to walk or run to school, and then left the 22 house with Ross running after her. (Id. at 126-27.) Ross hurt his foot running after 23 Hannah, and they both came back to the house. (Id. at 127-28.) Hannah was crying and 24 called Allan or Melissa, and Breanna overheard their conversation. (Id. at 128-29.) Ross 25 told Hannah not to say what happened, but Hannah told Melissa or Allan “what went on.”
26 (Id.) Allan and Melissa came to the house first, followed by Breanna’s aunt, then the 27 police, and then Tami. (Id. at 130.) Breanna said she never told Hannah that Ross had 28 also touched her “[b]ecause Eric told me to not tell anybody, and I was too scared to.”

1 (Id. at 126.) She was scared “[b]ecause I thought he was going to get me in trouble
2 because he looked like a really strong guy.”² (Id.)

3 Hannah C. testified that she turned eleven years old on February 17, 2014, and is in 4 fifth grade. (Id. at 168-69.) She lives with her mother Melissa and stepfather Allan, and 5 her sister Breanna stays with them every other week. (Id. at 170-71.) Allan would 6 usually drop her off at school, but on days he had to go to work early, he dropped her off 7 at Breanna’s house and Tami would take her and Breanna to school. (Id. at 173.) If 8 Tami also had to go to work early, Ross would take them to school. (Id.) On the day the 9 police came to Breanna’s house, Hannah was dropped off there that morning by Melissa.
10 (Id. at 173-74.) As soon as she walked in the house, Ross asked her for a hug, which was 11 unusual, but she hugged him. (Id. at 174-75.) Hannah sat on the couch eating cereal 12 while Ross was at his computer, and Ross asked for another hug. (Id. at 175-76.) She 13 got up, hugged him, and “he told me that I was growing up or something or becoming a 14 woman.” (Id. at 176.) He then touched her, over her clothes, on her vagina (count three), 15 which she called her “bikini area,” on the part of her chest her mother calls “boobs,” and 16 on her butt. (Id. at 177-79.) She “just froze” and felt “violated.” (Id. at 179.) She told 17 Ross she thought she heard Breanna wake up and went upstairs. (Id.) As she walked up 18 the stairs she saw what Ross was watching on his computer, a woman and a man in a 19 library “doing stuff on the counter of the library.” (Id. at 180-81.) Tami was upstairs in 20 the bathroom doing her hair, and Hannah joined Breanna in her room. (Id. at 180.) She 21 and Breanna wanted to jump on an air mattress after Tami left, but Ross said it would 22 break, so he allowed them to jump on his bed. (Id. at 182.)

23 Hannah testified that when she and Breanna were in Ross and Tami’s bed, Breanna 24 asked Ross to play a game called “find us” - where the girls would hide under the covers 25 and he would try to pull them out by their feet. (Id.) Hannah said Ross pulled her out by 26

27 ² Ross is described in the probation officer’s report as six feet two inches tall weighing 260 pounds.
28 (Lodgment No. 1, Clerk’s Tr. vol. 2, 0368, ECF No. 8 Attach. #2.)

1 her waist rather than her feet, pulling her pants down a little, which she thought was an 2 accident. (Id. at 183, 201.) After the game, they all laid on the bed under the covers 3 watching television, with Breanna on Hannah’s right side and Ross on Hannah’s left side.
4 (Id. at 183-84, 202.) Ross tried to take Hannah’s pants off and pulled them down to her 5 knees. (Id. at 186.) Ross then touched her bikini area with his hand under her clothes
6 (counts one and two), and prevented her from closing her legs. (Id. at 186-88.) She said 7 he touched the inside of her bikini area, but also said “I don’t really know how to 8 describe it. He just touched me there.” (Id. at 187.) She was scared and tried to pull her 9 pants up but he would not let her. (Id.) Hannah told him she had to use the bathroom and 10 went into the bathroom. (Id. at 188.) Breanna came into the bathroom and asked Hannah 11 if she would like to split a fruit rollup. (Id.) Hannah was crying “[b]ecause I didn’t really 12 know what to do at that point.” (Id. at 189.) Hannah asked Breanna “if Eric ever touched 13 her” and “if she knew what he was doing,” and Breanna said “yes.” (Id.) Hannah then 14 asked Breanna, “Has Eric ever done anything like that to you before?”, and Breanna 15 answered “no,” but Hannah could tell she was lying. (Id. at 189, 207.)

16 The bathroom had two doors, and Hannah exited into a hallway, grabbed her 17 backpack and shoes, and ran outside. (Id. at 190.) Ross chased her and she got as far as 18 hiding behind some motorcycles in the yard before he found her. (Id.) He grabbed her 19 arm and started back for the house; when he let go, she ran back to the house and he said 20 he hurt his ankle. (Id.) They went in the house and Hannah sat on the stairs crying as 21 Ross told her, “Sorry if I hurt you.” (Id. at 191.) Hannah asked Ross if she could use his 22 phone and go outside to talk, but he said no because she would run away again. (Id.)
23 Ross allowed her to use the phone on the back porch, and she called Allan and told him 24 what happened. (Id. at 191-92.) Hannah said at that point she was sad, as well as angry 25 and upset with Ross, and said she “seriously wanted to hurt him.” (Id. at 197-98.) Allan 26 arrived five minutes later followed by the police. (Id. at 198.)

27 Karina K. testified that she is seventeen years old; Breanna is her cousin, the 28 daughter of Karina’s aunt Tami, and she occasionally babysits Breanna. (Lodgment No.

1 2, Rep.'s Appeal Tr. vol. 2, 213-16, Mar. 28, 2014, ECF No. 8 Attach. #4.) When Karina
2 was about fourteen years old, she visited Tami's house when only Ross and Breanna 3 were home and found herself in a situation with Ross that made her uncomfortable. (Id.
4 at 216-17.) Ross said he wanted to speak to Karina, took her into his bedroom, closed the 5 door, pulled his pants down just far enough to display his penis, and said, "You can touch 6 it if you want." (Id. at 217-18, 225.) He was holding and playing with his penis. (Id. at 7 219.) Karina said "no" and walked out of the bedroom. (Id.) He told her not to tell 8 anyone and to keep it between them. (Id. at 223.) She did not tell anyone at the time 9 because "I was scared he would, like, do something or, like, come after me or 10 something." (Id. at 219.) She first told someone about that encounter when she heard 11 what happened to Hannah and Breanna. (Id. at 220.) She said she did not notice any 12 scars on his legs, but did not see his legs. (Id. at 224-25.)

13 Melissa L. testified that she has been married to Allan since August 2010, and they 14 have been together since October 2008. (Id. at 227-28.) During their marriage, they 15 lived with her daughter Hannah full time and with Allan's daughter Breanna half of the 16 time. (Id. at 229.) Breanna lived with her mother Tami and Tami's boyfriend Ross half 17 of the time, and they all had a decent relationship regarding custody of Breanna. (Id. at 18 230-33.) They all eventually moved to Poway several blocks from each other, where the 19 girls went to the same school. (Id. at 232-34.)

20 On May 21, 2012, Melissa had to go to work early, and Hannah was dropped off at 21 Tami and Ross's house in the morning to be taken to school with Breanna. (Id. at 235.)
22 Melissa and Allan work together, and that morning, Allan came to her desk and told her 23 they needed to leave because Ross had touched Hannah. (Id. at 237-38.) She called 911
24 while Allan drove them to Ross and Tami's house. (Id. at 238.) When they arrived, 25 Breanna looked scared and Hannah looked angry and scared. (Id. at 240.) Melissa pulled 26 Hannah outside, but when she tried to take Breanna, Ross put his arm in front of Breanna 27 and said "she's not your kid. You're not fucking taking her." (Id.) Allan then arrived at 28 the door and told Ross "well, she's my daughter," and asked if he could speak to 1 Breanna. (Id. at 241.) Ross told Allan “You’re not taking her, but you can come in.”

2 (Id.) Melissa admitted being hysterical at that point, and said she was screaming and 3 “yelling some pretty vulgar things” at Ross in front of the children, including “you’re a 4 sick fucking bastard,” but did not call Ross a child molester in front of the children. (Id.
5 at 245, 252.) Melissa took Hannah to the car and Hannah told her what happened without 6 being asked. (Id. at 241-42.) Allan came out of the house with Breanna, who was crying, 7 and Melissa asked Breanna if Ross “has ever touched you.” (Id. at 242-43.) Melissa said
8 Breanna “put her head down and half looked back up at me and said, ‘yes.’” (Id. at 243.)
9 Allan appeared to be about to ask Breanna something but Melissa told him to stop; they 10 would not discuss it at that time because the police were on the way. (Id. at 243-44.) The 11 police arrived and took statements from Melissa and Allan out of earshot of Breanna and 12 Hannah. (Id. at 244.)

13 Breanna and Hannah were later interviewed at Palomar Hospital, and Melissa said 14 she never spoke to either of them about what happened before or after those interviews, 15 and she and Allan both told the girls “not to talk to each other about anything regarding 16 anything about Eric.” (Id. at 244-45, 256.) Over the course of Hannah’s life, Melissa 17 spoke to Hannah four or five times about good touching verses bad touching, and not to 18 allow anyone to touch her in a private area. (Id. at 246.) Melissa said Allan and Ross 19 were cordial to each other in general, but when it came to Breanna, they had issues about 20 “everything,” including the way she was raised, which activities she participated in, and 21 where she went to school. (Id. at 247.) Whenever Allan tried to speak to Tami about 22 Breanna, Ross “always took control over it and started with threats,” such as involving 23 lawyers, and Ross responded to e-mails Allan sent to Tami. (Id.) Melissa said she and 24 Allan never said anything bad about Ross in front of the children. (Id. at 247-48.)

25 On cross-examination, Melissa said she and Allan were not friends with Ross, but 26 they all got along and were cordial with each other, and the four of them, including Tami, 27 were always able to sit down together for constructive discussions about Breanna. (Id. at 28 248-49.) Melissa “never had a good feeling about” Ross, and “always felt there was

1 something off' due to the dynamics of his relationship with Tami, which Melissa 2 described as manipulative. (Id. at 250.) She said Hannah had never run away or tried to 3 run away from home. (Id. at 251-52.) Melissa thought Tami was too supportive of Ross 4 and not supportive enough of Breanna because Tami took Ross to the hospital that day
5 and allowed him to continue living at her house. (Id. at 263-64.)

6 Allan L. testified that he is married to Melissa and they each brought a child into 7 the marriage. (Id. at 266.) Breanna is Allan's child with Tami. (Id. at 267.) Allan and 8 Tami separated in 2007 or 2008, while they were living in Oregon. (Id. at 267, 271.)
9 They met Ross when he was their real estate agent for a condominium they purchased in 10 1997. (Id. at 268.) Allan had a professional relationship with Ross, not a friendship, and 11 they used him as their agent again in 1999 when they sold the condominium and bought a 12 house. (Id. at 268-69.) Tami and Ross were in a wedding party together at one point, and 13 Allan and Tami split up a month or two later, after which Tami moved to San Diego. (Id.
14 at 269-71.) Allan blames Tami for ending their marriage, not Ross, and does not harbor 15 resentment toward Ross on that basis. (Id. at 270.) Their custody arrangement was that 16 Breanna would spend equal time with Tami and Allan; at first she spent six weeks with 17 Allan in Oregon and six weeks with Tami in San Diego. (Id. at 271.) Allan felt he did 18 not see Breanna enough, so he moved to San Diego. (Id. at 271-72.) Allan denied 19 having any issues with Tami or Breanna living with Ross, and he described his 20 relationship with Ross as civil and with Tami as cordial. (Id. at 273, 276.) Whenever 21 there were disagreements regarding Breanna, the four of them - Melissa, Allan, Tami, 22 and Ross - were able to sit down together and resolve them in a civil manner. (Id. at 274-23 75.)

24 On May 21, 2012, Melissa dropped Hannah off at Ross and Tami's house on her 25 way to work. (Id. at 277.) Allan and Melissa work at the same office, and he was 26 already at work when Hannah was dropped off that morning. (Id.) A little before 8:00
27 a.m., Hannah called Allan at work. (Id.) Hannah was hysterical and told Allan she did 28 not want to be there and wanted him and Melissa to come get her. (Id. at 278.) Hannah

1 said only that Ross had touched her, nothing else, but Allan got “a gist of what that 2 meant.” (Id.) He calmly told Melissa what Hannah said, and they left work and drove 3 together to Ross and Tami’s house, about a four minute drive. (Id. at 278-79.) Melissa 4 called the police on the way. (Id. at 279.) As they pulled up to the house, Melissa
5 jumped out before the car came to a stop and ran to the front door. (Id.) By the time
6 Allan had parked the car, Melissa was returning with Hannah. (Id.) Melissa went back 7 to the house and tried to get Breanna but was not allowed inside. (Id.) Allan walked up 8 behind Melissa as Ross told her, “You’re not coming in here. She’s not your daughter.”
9 (Id. at 280.) Allan told Ross she was his daughter, and Ross allowed him inside. (Id.)
10 Allan picked up Breanna, who was crying, walked out into the back yard and closed the 11 door behind them. (Id.) He told Breanna to calm down, told her “I’m going to ask you a 12 question. I want an honest answer. I want a truthful answer.” (Id. at 281.) He asked, 13 “Has Eric ever touched you?” and she answered, “Yes.” (Id. at 281-82.) He asked, 14 “Where?” and she said, “My privates.” (Id. at 282.) Allan was almost crying and 15 Breanna cupped his cheeks and said, “Daddy, please don’t cry.” (Id.) When he carried 16 Breanna back through the house, Ross was on the phone with Tami. (Id.) Allan took the 17 phone and told Tami she needed to be there, the police were on the way, and he was 18 taking Breanna. (Id. at 283.) Allan took Breanna outside, and the police arrived and took 19 statements from Allan and Melissa but not from the girls. (Id. at 283-84.)

20 Allan had no further conversations with the girls about what happened, and the 21 girls did not talk to each other about the events at that time or on the ride home. (Id. at 22 285-86.) The girls were interviewed at Palomar Hospital about a week later. (Id. at 286.)
23 Allan said other than what was said at the time of the incident, neither he nor Melissa 24 ever talked to the girls about what happened. (Id. at 286-87.) Prior to that day, neither 25 Allan nor Melissa said anything negative about Ross or Tami in front of the children. (Id.
26 at 287.)

27 On cross-examination, Allan said that Tami and Ross were in a wedding party 28 while Allan was still married to Tami; about a month or two before they separated, Allan,

1 Tami, and Ross had a sexual encounter together. (Id. at 287-88.) Allan said Tami’s 2 relationship with Ross was the reason he and Tami divorced and made him upset with 3 Tami, but reiterated that he had nothing against Ross and was not upset Breanna would 4 be living with them. (Id. at 288-90.) Around the time of the May 21, 2012 incident, 5 Tami and Ross had discussed the possibility of moving to Las Vegas, although their 6 custody arrangement with Breanna precluded one or the other parent from taking her out 7 of state without the other’s permission, but Allan said he was not concerned. (Id. at 290-8 91.) In the four years Allan had known Hannah, he said she had not always been truthful, 9 telling “little white lies that kids do.” (Id. at 299.) She had run off from an adult at 10 school when she was in the second or third grade because “she was upset about 11 something, and her first instinct is to run.” (Id. at 300.) Once or twice prior to May 21, 12 2012, Allan asked Breanna if Ross had ever touched her private parts or if anything 13 inappropriate had ever happened, and she always said, “No.” (Id. at 292-93.) From time 14 to time when Allan, Melissa, Tami, and Ross would sit down to discuss Breanna, Ross 15 would mention getting a lawyer, but it did not bother or upset Allan. (Id. at 295-96.)

16 Robert Nicklo, a San Diego County Deputy Sheriff, testified that on May 21, 2012, 17 at about 8:00 a.m., he responded to a report of suspected child abuse at a residence in 18 Poway. (Id. at 303-04.) When he arrived, another deputy was speaking to the reporting 19 parties, Allan L. and Melissa L. (Id. at 304.) Deputy Nicklo spoke to the suspect, Ross, 20 and then conducted separate interviews with Allan and Melissa. (Id. at 305-06.) Allan 21 was calm, Melissa was very upset, and Ross was in physical pain. (Id. at 308.) The 22 children were not interviewed at the scene because his training dictates that highly trained 23 specialized people conduct and record those interviews at a later date. (Id. at 307.)

24 Dustin Lopez, a Sergeant with the San Diego County Sheriff’s Department, 25 testified that he received a call from the scene and took charge of arranging for Hannah 26 and Breanna to be interviewed in a forensic setting by specialized social workers. (Id. at 27 309-12.) The interviews took place nine days after the incident, on May 30, 2012, and 28 were observed by Sergeant Lopez. (Id. at 312.) He did not refer either girl for a physical

1 examination after their interviews because, as he explained, “Based on my experience 2 and my training, after the nine days, the chance of getting any kind of touch DNA or any 3 kind of DNA or physical findings is very limited.” (Id. at 313.) The Sergeant was asked, 4 “Is there also a portion of the protocol that deals with that?” (Id.) He replied, “There is 5 some protocol put in place about the 72 hour policy, as far as, if anything goes past 72 6 hours, it needs to be vetted and looked at as far as what kind of sexual molestation it 7 relates to.” (Id.) He then added, “And, also, victims this young, I don’t like to send 8 victims for medical examinations if I don’t believe there’s going to be findings based on 9 the fact that you’re traumatizing young children with these medical examinations.” (Id.)
10 Because Breanna mentioned the use of a vibrator during her forensic interview, Sergeant 11 Lopez searched Tami’s home on May 30, 2012, pursuant to a warrant and asked Tami 12 about its location. (Id. at 313-14.) The search revealed no sex devices, and Tami told 13 Sergeant Lopez that Ross had moved out and, at her request, removed several items from 14 the house in anticipation of a visit from Child Protective Services because she thought 15 they might look bad. (Id. at 314-16.)

16 On cross-examination, when asked why no physical examination took place, 17 Sergeant Lopez said, “I got from the forensic interviews of the girls[;] . . . it had been 18 nine days past the time where the actual allegations had been made I just didn’t 19 think that it would be relevant at that point in time, that there would be any kind of 20 evidence collected.” (Id. at 318-19.) He stated it was possible a physical examination 21 might have revealed evidence of sexual abuse. Lopez could not be certain one way or the 22 other because it depends on numerous factors; but he thought it highly unlikely and 23 decided not to have physical examinations based on the nature of the allegations by the 24 girls, which did not include bleeding, scratching, bruising, or any physical injury; and the 25 passage of nine days also made it unlikely that DNA could be recovered. (Id. at 319-24.)
26 He acknowledged that a physical examination could have been performed within 27 seventy-two hours and explained: “I did not have the facts of the case. I did not know the 28 level of the allegations until the children were actually forensically interviewed.” (Id. at

1 324.) Sergeant Lopez was the person who decided to schedule the interviews for nine 2 days after the incident. (Id. at 324-25.) As far as he knew, no parent requested a physical 3 examination, but he did not speak to them because he never speaks to “witnesses, victims 4 or family members on how to direct [an] investigation.” (Id. at 321.)

5 Christina Schultz, an interviewer with the Palomar Health Child Abuse Program 6 who interviews children at the request of law enforcement or Child Protective Services, 7 testified regarding her background, experience, and the protocol for interviews with 8 suspected child abuse victims. (Lodgment No. 2, Rep.’s Appeal Tr. vol. 3, 335-40, Apr.
9 1, 2014, ECF No. 8 Attach. #5.) She interviewed Hannah and Breanna on May 30, 2012, 10 and videotaped the interviews. (Id. at 340-43.) The interviews were played for the jury.
11 (Id. at 345-46, 352-55.) Transcripts are in the record.³ (Lodgment No. 1, Clerk’s Tr. vol.
12 1, 0109-0201, ECF No. 8 Attach. #1.)

13 On cross-examination, Schultz was questioned about the suggestibility of child 14 witnesses. She testified there were times during Breanna’s interview when Breanna 15 described events as if she had actually witnessed them but later said someone told her 16 about them, which Schultz described as a “clarification.” (Lodgment No. 2, Rep.’s 17 Appeal Tr. vol. 3, 362, 369-73, Apr. 1, 2014, ECF No. 8 Attach. #5.) Schultz said her 18 unit also conducts physical examinations in a room just down the hall from the interview 19 room. (Id. at 362.) A team, which includes the referring detective, typically meets 20 immediately after an interview to decide whether to recommend a physical examination, 21 which could reveal tearing or scarring from even minor penile or digital penetration that 22 occurred months or years earlier. (Id. at 363-67, 374.) Her team recommended a 23 physical examination for Breanna but not for Hannah, and Schlutz admitted that a 24 physical examination can be a mechanism to confirm a child’s allegations. (Id. at 365-25 68.) She said her job when interviewing a child is not to determine if the child is lying or 26

27 ³ Counts ten and fifteen were the only counts involving Breanna which Ross was convicted of without 28 trial testimony from Breanna; both pertain to using his finger to touch her vagina, which she described during her interview. (Id. at 0170, 0174, 0269, 0274.)

1 telling the truth, but just to gather information. (Id. at 371.)

2 Laurie Fortin, the clinical coordinator of the forensic interview program at the 3 Chadwick Center at Rady Children’s Hospital, testified as to her training and experience, 4 as well as the procedures and protocols for interviewing child abuse victims and 5 minimizing suggestibility. (Lodgment No. 2, Rep.’s Appeal Tr. vol. 3, 398, 401-16, Apr.
6 2, 2014, ECF No. 8 Attach. #5.) A parent asking a child “what happened” is not 7 considered suggestive. (Id. at 421-22.) On cross-examination, she said no effort is made 8 during an interview to determine if a child is telling the truth or lying “because that’s not 9 our role.” (Id. at 417.) Their role is to gather information from the child “using best 10 practice techniques.” (Id. at 417, 424.)

11 The defense recalled Tami, who testified she did not remember if Ross has any 12 scars in his groin area. (Id. at 427-28.) The defense admitted into evidence a copy of a 13 restraining order filed on May 21, 2012, at 2:18 p.m., and rested. (Id. at 429.) A 14 declaration from Melissa was attached to the restraining order and stated, “Upon the truth 15 coming out, Breanna admitted that Eric has been touching her private areas. It turned out 16 to be a timeframe equivalent to approximately two years.” (Id. at 386.)

17 The prosecutor recalled Melissa and Allan in rebuttal over a defense objection.
18 (Id. at 452-58.) Melissa testified that the statement she made in the application for the 19 restraining order came from information she received from Allan on the day of the 20 incident, who got it from Breanna that day. (Id. at 460-62.) Allan testified that on May 21 21, 2012, in the backyard of Ross and Tami’s house, after he asked Breanna if Ross had 22 touched her, and after Breanna grabbed his cheeks and told him not to cry, Allan asked 23 her, “How long has this been happening?” and she replied, “It happened at the last 24 apartment.” (Id. at 463-65.) He then asked her why she had not told him when he had 25 asked her in the past, and she said “she didn’t tell me because she thought Eric was 26 family, and she didn’t want to hurt her family.” (Id. at 465.) He told her, “Family 27 doesn’t do that.” (Id.) That was the only time Allan asked Breanna about what happened 28 between her and Ross. (See id.) He could not specifically remember if he reported to the 1 police everything Breanna told him that morning, but said, “I told them about every detail 2 of the conversation I had in the backyard at that time.” (Id. at 466-67.) Allan did not 3 mention this discussion when he testified earlier in the trial because he had not been 4 asked. (Id. at 468.)

5 Defense counsel argued in closing that the case came down to credibility and 6 believability, and that the family dynamics showed Allan and Melissa wanted to remove 7 Ross from the family and were willing to lie to do so. (Lodgment No. 2, Rep.’s Appeal 8 Tr. vol. 3, 554-59, Apr. 3, 2014, ECF No. 8 Attach. #5.) Counsel argued that Allan, 9 Melissa, and Tami all lied when they said they did not discuss the incident with the 10 children. (Id. at 554-58.) For example, in her forensic interview, Breanna talked about 11 things Hannah reported. (Id. at 555.) Additionally, Allan lied when he said he was not 12 upset his marriage to Tami ended because of Ross, when Tami took their daughter to 13 another state to live with Ross without asking his permission, or when Ross threatened to 14 get lawyers involved in their custody arrangements. (Id. at 554-58.) Counsel pointed out 15 that Melissa admitted she never liked Ross and that Allan had been questioning Breanna 16 for some time about whether Ross touched her inappropriately; counsel argued that he 17 was just waiting for Breanna to say yes for the “ultimate payback” to Ross. (Id. at 558-18 60.) Counsel pointed out that Schultz corrected Breanna three times during her interview 19 about contradictory statements, Breanna and Allan both said Hannah is a liar, Breanna 20 and Hannah described the events differently, and Breanna had been exposed to adult 21 sexual activity when she walked in on Ross and Tami having sex and when she peeked at 22 Petitioner’s computer, which explained her ability to describe sex acts performed on her.
23 (Id. at 561-63, 568-69.) As particularly relevant here, counsel argued it was unfortunate 24 there were no medical examinations of the girls, which would have taken place just down 25 the hall from the interviews, because it would have relieved the jury of having to decide 26 if the girls were lying or telling the truth, and it was suspicious that Detective Lopez 27 waited nine days to schedule the interviews and then said he did not order physical 28 examinations because more than seventy-two hours had passed, despite the fact that he

1 and Schultz both said physical findings were still possible, when Schultz recommended 2 one for Breanna, and when physical examinations can be requested by a parent. (Id. at 3 563-65.) Finally, counsel argued that Tami believed Ross at first because she allowed 4 him to continue living with her, and she only changed her story when she realized she 5 might lose custody of Breanna. (Id. at 566-68.)

6 On April 4, 2014, after deliberating about five hours over two days, the jury 7 returned verdicts as follows: (1) not guilty on count one, sexual penetration of Hannah 8 (inserting his finger into her vagina in the master bedroom), but guilty of the lesser 9 included offense of attempted sexual penetration; (2) guilty on count two of committing a 10 forcible lewd act on Hannah (touching her vagina in the master bedroom), with a true 11 finding it involved substantial sexual conduct but a not true finding it involved more than 12 one victim; (3) guilty on count three of committing a lewd act on Hannah (touching her 13 vagina with his hand in the living room), with a true finding it involved substantial sexual 14 conduct and a true finding it involved more than one victim; (4) guilty on count four of 15 oral copulation with Breanna (touching her vagina with his mouth in the old house); 16 (5) guilty on count five of oral copulation with Breanna (a second incident of touching 17 her vagina with his mouth in the old house); (6) guilty on count six of committing a lewd 18 act on Breanna (touching her vagina with his hand in the old house), with a true finding it 19 involved substantial sexual contact but a not true finding it involved more than one 20 victim; (7) guilty on count seven of oral copulation with Breanna (touching his mouth to 21 her vagina in the living room of the new house); (8) not guilty on count eight of sexual 22 intercourse with Breanna (inserting his penis into her vagina in the living room of the 23 new house), and not guilty of the lesser included offense of attempted sexual intercourse; 24 (9) not guilty on count nine of committing a lewd act on Breanna (touching his penis to 25 her vagina in the living room of the new house); (10) guilty on count ten of sexual 26 penetration of Breanna (inserting an object into her vagina in the living room of the new 27 house); (11) guilty on count eleven of committing a lewd act on Breanna (touching an 28 object to her vagina in the living room of the new house), with a true finding it involved

1 substantial sexual conduct but a not true finding it involved more than one victim;
2 (12) guilty on count twelve of sexual penetration of Breanna (inserting his finger into her 3 vagina in the living room of the new house); (13) guilty on count thirteen of committing a 4 lewd act on Breanna (touching her vagina with his hand in the living room of the new 5 house), with true findings it involved substantial sexual conduct and was committed 6 against more than one victim; (14) guilty on count fourteen of oral copulation with 7 Breanna (placing his mouth on her vagina in the bedroom of the new house); (15) guilty 8 on count fifteen of sexual penetration of Breanna (inserting his finger into her vagina in 9 the bedroom of the new house); (16) guilty on count sixteen of committing a lewd act on 10 Breanna (touching his hand to her vagina in the bedroom of the new house), with a true 11 finding it involved substantial sexual conduct but a not true finding it involved more than 12 one victim; (17) not guilty on count seventeen of sexual intercourse with Breanna 13 (inserting his penis into her vagina in the bedroom of the new house), and not guilty of 14 the lesser included offense of attempted sexual intercourse; and (18) not guilty on count 15 eighteen of committing a lewd act on Breanna (touching his penis to her vagina in the 16 bedroom of the new house). (Lodgment No. 1, Clerk's Tr. vol. 2, 0439-63, ECF No. 8
17 Attach. #2.)

18 On August 7, 2014, Ross, represented by new counsel, filed a motion for a new 19 trial. (Id. at 0306-22.) He claimed he received ineffective assistance of counsel because 20 his trial counsel (1) decided not to call Dr. Eisen, a child psychologist retained by the 21 defense, to rebut the testimony of Laurie Fortin and explain how children are subject to 22 suggestion; (2) failed to argue to the jury that Christina Schultz, the person who 23 interviewed the girls, said Breanna recounted events which were told to her as if she had 24 experienced them; (3) failed to impeach Tami and Hannah regarding Hannah's statement 25 in her interview that she told Tami that Ross touched her prior to May 21, 2012, and 26 failed to argue to the jury the failure to charge him with that incident showed a lack of 27 confidence in Hannah's reliability; (4) failed to impeach Breanna, Tami, or Karina 28 regarding why they did not see scars in Petitioner's groin area; and (5) assured Ross that

1 she would impeach prosecution witnesses on several issues or call him to testify as to 2 those issues but failed to do so, including (a) why Karina, Hannah, or Breanna did not see 3 his scars, (b) why a physical examination of the girls did not take place although Ross 4 requested one, (c) the history of animosity against Ross by Allan and Melissa, (d) that 5 Tami, Allan, and Melissa influenced the girls as to what they said about him, and 6 (e) establishing that the girls saw the adults engage in sex to explain the girls' ability to 7 describe the sex acts. (Id. at 0306-07, 0315-22.)

8 The trial court held an evidentiary hearing on the new trial motion at which 9 Petitioner and his trial counsel testified. (Lodgment No. 2, Rep.'s Appeal Tr. vol. 4, 615-10 734, Sept. 26, 2014, ECF No. 8 Attach. #6.) Petitioner testified that he discussed with his 11 attorney whether he would testify at trial and made it very clear to counsel he wanted the 12 following issues brought out at trial, and was willing to testify if necessary: (1) he asked 13 the police to search for DNA evidence and conduct a physical examination of the girls; 14 (2) Breanna saw him having sex with Tami; (3) Allan disliked him because he dated 15 Tami while they were still married, and Allan and Melissa testified falsely that they did 16 not dislike him; (4) twice between the incident on May 21, 2012, and his arrest on May 17 30, 2012, he overheard conversations between Allan and Tami discussing the claims the 18 girls had made against him; (5) Breanna once saw Allan having sex with his girlfriend; 19 and (6) he has a one quarter inch wide and three or four inch long scar on the left side of 20 his groin running from his pubic bone to his left hip bone, evidence that would have 21 impeached Tami's testimony that she did not remember if he had such a scar, Karina's 22 testimony that she did not see a scar, and testimony of Breanna and Hannah had they 23 been asked if they saw a scar. (Id. at 619-34.) He also testified that defense counsel did 24 not highlight to the jury Hannah's interview statement that Ross touched her on a 25 previous occasion; Ross complained that the defense had Dr. Eisen ready to testify in the 26 area of child psychology regarding suggestibility in children, but he was not called 27 because counsel said the prosecution expert had covered the subject and Dr. Eisen's 28 testimony "might go into areas she would rather not go into." (Id. at 620-34, 647.) When

1 Ross told counsel he wanted to testify, she told him it was too late because the defense
2 had rested. (Id. at 634-37.)

3 Petitioner's trial counsel testified that she met and conferred with him regarding 4 their trial strategy numerous times, and Ross provided her with a list of facts he wanted
5 presented to the jury from his point of view. (Id. at 650-52.) They included animosity 6 between himself, Allan, Melissa, and Tami, which she presented to the jury and covered 7 in closing by arguing their animosity was a potentially motivating factor for them to 8 suggest the children say something that did not occur. (Id. at 652, 654.) She described 9 her decision not to call Dr. Eisen as a tactical one. (Id. at 654-55.) Dr. Eisen told her he 10 wanted to hear Hannah and Breanna testify before deciding if he should testify, and after 11 they testified, Dr. Eisen said it would do more harm than good to the defense for him to 12 testify. (Id. at 675-76.) Counsel explained that to Petitioner and informed him she was 13 not going to call Dr. Eisen. (Id. at 676.) Counsel spoke with Petitioner several times 14 regarding his decision whether to testify, and she practiced direct and cross-examination 15 with him while counsel mimicked the prosecutor. (Id. at 656-57, 687-88.) He indicated a 16 desire to testify, and pointed out that he was articulate and had previous law enforcement 17 experience in the military. (Id. at 656-58.) Counsel told him those things were good but 18 she was a little concerned his experience showed he had an in-depth knowledge of things 19 like investigation and evidence which could be used against him because there was 20 testimony that he is manipulative and had a way of controlling people and situations. (Id.
21 at 658.) Counsel was also concerned with the way Ross described Hannah, as he told 22 counsel that Hannah is "not like a child at all. She's more like an adult. She's very 23 manipulative. She's very savvy and sassy, . . . like her mother." (Id. at 658-59.) Counsel 24 believed that if Petitioner described Hannah in that manner, it could reinforce her 25 testimony that Petitioner told her she was developing into a young woman and was no 26 longer a child. (Id. at 659.) Prior to resting her case, counsel advised Ross that if he 27 testified he might do more harm than good to his case; she left the decision solely up to 28 him, and informed him that the decision was his and he had to let her know if he wanted

1 to testify. (Id. at 659-62.) She remembered telling him that there were no more 2 prosecution witnesses and if he wanted the things to come out which had not come out he 3 would have to testify. (Id. at 690.) He never told her, before or after she rested the 4 defense, that he wanted to testify. (Id. at 662.)

5 The new trial motion was denied. (Id. at 734.) The trial judge found “insufficient 6 evidence to demonstrate it’s reasonably probable a more favorable result would have 7 been obtained if [trial counsel] had accomplished the tasks that [counsel for Petitioner at 8 the new trial motion] have suggested.” (Id.) Petitioner was then sentenced to 120 years 9 to life plus 17 years. (Id. at 750-51.)

10 III. DISCUSSION

11 Petitioner claims his federal constitutional right to the effective assistance of 12 counsel was violated because his trial counsel failed to call a child abuse pediatrics expert 13 to testify that physical examinations should have been performed on the girls which 14 would have been virtually certain to either verify their allegations or prove them false.
15 (Pet. Attach. #2 Mem. 5-7, 26-33, ECF No. 1.) He also contends the deference to the 16 state court adjudication of his claim under 28 U.S.C. § 2254(d) does not apply because 17 the state court unfairly rejected as untimely his reply brief and therefore did not consider 18 the arguments presented or his request for oral argument. (Id. at 34-37.)

19 Respondent answers that Ross is not entitled to federal habeas relief because the 20 state court adjudication of his claim, on the basis that the decision of his trial counsel to 21 forego calling an expert witness was neither deficient nor prejudicial, is objectively 22 reasonable within the meaning of 28 U.S.C. § 2254(d). (Answer Attach. #1 Mem. P. & 23 A. 9-13, ECF No. 7.) Petitioner replies by presenting declarations, which he presented to 24 the state court, from his trial counsel, a child abuse pediatric expert, a criminal defense 25 attorney with expertise in child sexual abuse trials, and his current counsel who also 26 represented him in his state post-conviction proceedings. (Traverse Attach. #3, 1-15, 27 ECF No. 9; id. Attach. #4, 1-4.)

1 A. Standards of Review

2 In order to obtain federal habeas relief with respect to a claim adjudicated on the 3 merits in state court, a federal habeas petitioner must demonstrate the following:

4 [T]he adjudication of the claim - (1) resulted in a decision that was contrary 5 to, or involved an unreasonable application of, clearly established Federal 6 law, as determined by the Supreme Court of the United States; or (2) 7 resulted in a decision that was based on an unreasonable determination of the facts in light of the evidence presented in the State court proceeding.

8 28 U.S.C.A. § 2254(d) (West 2006).

9 Even if § 2254(d) is satisfied, a petitioner must still show that a federal 10 constitutional violation occurred in order to obtain relief. Fry v. Pliler, 551 U.S. 112, 11 119-22 (2007); Frantz v. Hazey, 533 F.3d 724, 735-36 (9th Cir. 2008) (en banc).

12 A state court’s decision may be “contrary to” clearly established Supreme Court 13 precedent (1) “if the state court applies a rule that contradicts the governing law set forth 14 in [the Court’s] cases” or (2) “if the state court confronts a set of facts that are materially 15 indistinguishable from a decision of [the] Court and nevertheless arrives at a result 16 different from [the Court’s] precedent.” Williams v. Taylor, 529 U.S. 362, 405-06 17 (2000). A state court decision may involve an “unreasonable application” of clearly 18 established federal law, “if the state court identifies the correct governing legal rule from 19 this Court’s cases but unreasonably applies it to the facts of the particular state prisoner’s 20 case.” Id. at 407. In order to satisfy § 2254(d)(2), a petitioner must show the factual 21 findings upon which the state court’s adjudication of his claim rests are objectively 22 unreasonable. Miller-El v. Cockrell, 537 U.S. 322, 340 (2003).

23 With respect to the application of § 2254(d), the Supreme Court has stated:

24 If this standard is difficult to meet, that is because it is meant to be.
25 As amended by AEDPA, § 2254(d) stops short of imposing a complete bar 26 on federal-court relitigation of claims already rejected in state court 27 proceedings. It preserves authority to issue the writ in cases where there is 28 no possibility fairminded jurists could disagree that the state court’s decision conflicts with this Court’s precedents. It goes no further. Section 2254(d) reflects the view that habeas corpus is a guard against extreme malfunctions

1 in the state criminal justice systems, not a substitute for ordinary error 2 correction through appeal. As a condition for obtaining habeas corpus from 3 a federal court, as state prisoner must show that the state court's ruling on 4 the claim being presented in federal court was so lacking in justification that 5 there was an error well understood and comprehended in existing law 6 beyond any possibility for fairminded disagreement.

6 Harrington v. Richter, 562 U.S. 86, 102-03 (2011) (internal citations omitted).

7 The clearly established United States Supreme Court law governing ineffective
8 assistance of counsel claims is set forth in Strickland v. Washington, 466 U.S. 668 9 (1984). Petitioner must show that his counsel's performance was deficient, which 10 "requires showing that counsel made errors so serious that counsel was not functioning as 11 the 'counsel' guaranteed the defendant by the Sixth Amendment." Strickland, 466 U.S.
12 at 687. With respect to review of counsel's performance, the Supreme Court has stated:

13 A convicted defendant making a claim of ineffective assistance must 14 identify the acts or omissions of counsel that are alleged not to have been the 15 result of reasonable professional judgment. The court must then determine 16 whether, in light of all the circumstances, the identified acts or omissions 17 were outside the wide range of professionally competent assistance. In 18 making that determination, the court should keep in mind that counsel's 19 function, as elaborated in prevailing professional norms, is to make the 20 adversarial testing process work in the particular case. At the same time, the 21 court should recognize that counsel is strongly presumed to have rendered 22 adequate assistance and made all significant decisions in the exercise of 23 reasonable professional judgment.

21 Id. at 690.

22 "It will generally be appropriate for a reviewing court to assess counsel's overall 23 performance throughout the case in order to determine whether the 'identified acts or 24 omissions' overcome the presumption that counsel rendered reasonable professional 25 assistance." Kimmelman v. Morrison, 477 U.S. 365, 386 (1986) (quoting Strickland, 466 26 U.S. at 689).

27 A federal habeas petitioner must also show that counsel's deficient performance 28 prejudiced the defense. Strickland, 466 U.S. at 691. Petitioner must show that his

1 “counsel’s errors were so serious as to deprive [him] of a fair trial, a trial whose result is 2 reliable.” Id. at 687. “The purpose of the Sixth Amendment guarantee of counsel is to 3 ensure that a defendant has the assistance necessary to justify reliance on the outcome of 4 the proceeding.” Id. at 691-92. Thus, a showing of prejudice requires a demonstration of 5 a reasonable probability that the result would have been different absent the error, that is, 6 “a probability sufficient to undermine confidence in the outcome.” Id. at 694. Both 7 deficient performance and prejudice must be established in order to obtain relief. Id. at 8 687. “Surmounting Strickland’s high bar is never an easy task.” Padilla v. Kentucky, 9 559 U.S. 356, 371 (2010).

10 In addition, when § 2254(d) applies, a Strickland analysis is demanding.

11 Establishing that a state court’s application of Strickland was 12 unreasonable under § 2254(d) is all the more difficult. The standards created 13 by Strickland and § 2254(d) are both “highly deferential,” and when the two 14 apply in tandem, review is “doubly” so. The Strickland standard is a general 15 one, so the range of reasonable applications is substantial. Federal habeas 16 courts must guard against the danger of equating unreasonableness under 17 Strickland with unreasonableness under § 2254(d). When § 2254(d) applies, the question is not whether counsel’s actions were reasonable. The question is whether there is any reasonable argument that counsel satisfied Strickland’s deferential standard.

18 Richter, 562 U.S. at 105 (internal citations omitted).

19 B. Whether the state court adjudication of Ross’s ineffective assistance of 20 counsel claim is objectively reasonable within the meaning of § 2254(d)

21 Petitioner raised the claim presented here in a habeas petition filed in the California 22 Supreme Court. (Lodgment No. 12, In re Ross, No. [S232822] (petition for writ of 23 habeas corpus), ECF No. 12 Attach. #1.) The petition was summarily denied with an 24 order which states: “The petition for writ of habeas corpus is denied.” (Lodgment No.
25 13, In re Ross, No. S232822, order at 1, ECF No. 12 Attach. #2.)

26 Petitioner also presented his claim to the state appellate court. (Lodgment No. 6, 27 In re Ross, No. [D069126] (petition for writ of habeas corpus), ECF No. 8 Attach. #10.)

28 ///

1 The appellate court denied habeas relief in a reasoned opinion. (Lodgment No. 9, In re
2 Ross, No. D069126, slip op., ECF No. 8 Attach. #13.)

3 The Court applies a presumption that “[w]here there has been one reasoned state 4 judgment rejecting a federal claim, later unexplained orders upholding that judgment or 5 rejecting the same claim rest upon the same ground.” Ylst v. Nunnemaker, 501 U.S. 797, 6 803-06 (1991). The Court will look through the silent denial of this claim by the 7 California Supreme Court on habeas to the last reasoned state court opinion, the appellate 8 court opinion denying habeas relief, which stated in relevant part:

9 In the petition, Ross collaterally attacks the judgment on the ground of 10 ineffective assistance of counsel, based on an error not raised in the appeal.
11 Ross faults his counsel for not presenting testimony from a medical expert to 12 refute the testimony of Dustin Lopez, a detective with the San Diego County 13 Sheriff’s Department, that it is SART (Sexual Abuse Response Team) 14 protocol in a case of alleged vaginal penetration of a child not to require a 15 medical examination if the most recent incident occurred more than 72 16 house earlier, because “the chance of getting . . . any kind of DNA or 17 physical findings is very limited.” The girls revealed the extent of the sexual 18 abuse in forensic interviews conducted nine days after the last incident.
19 Ross submits a declaration by Steven Gabaeff, M.D., which states damages 20 from vaginal penetration “can be seen for years . . . after the alleged acts 21 have occurred,” and Hannah’s allegations of penetration with Ross’s finger, 22 and Breanna’s allegation of penetration with his penis, vibrator, and finger, 23 “mandated” examinations.

24 Ross also submits a declaration by his trial counsel, Euketa Oliver, 25 which states she spoke with Dr. Deborah Fitzgerald about the lack of 26 medical examinations. Dr. Fitzgerald advised Oliver “it was unusual for a 27 physical examination to not be done given the accusations and that if a 28 physical exam had been performed in a timely manner, there most likely could have been physical findings if there in fact had been sexual penetration, particularly penile penetration. However, since one was not ordered, no one would be able to say there were injuries consistent or inconsistent with the allegations.” Oliver explains she did not call a medical expert because there were no medical findings “to explain or challenge.”
Her declaration also states, “I made the tactical decision to cross exam[ine] the prosecution witnesses on the lack of physical examinations and argue the points on that topic in closing arguments.”

1 We conclude Ross is not entitled to relief. Defense counsel has wide 2 latitude in making tactical decisions, and “[j]udicial scrutiny of counsel’s 3 performance must be highly deferential.” (Strickland v. Washington (1984) 4 466 U.S. 668, 689 (Strickland)). “It is not sufficient to allege merely that the 5 attorney’s tactics were poor, or that the case might have been handled more 6 effectively. [Citations.] [¶] Rather, the defendant must affirmatively show 7 that the omissions of defense counsel involved a critical issue, and that the 8 omissions cannot be explained on the basis of any knowledgeable choice of 9 tactics.” (People v. Floyd (1970) 1 Cal.3d 694, disapproved of on another 10 ground in People v. Wheeler (1978) 22 Cal.3d 258, 287, fn. 36.)

11 Ross relies on opinions finding ineffective assistance based on 12 counsel’s failure to adduce medical evidence to challenge the prosecution’s 13 medical findings of sexual molestation. (In re Hill (2011) 198 Cal.App.4th 14 1008, 1023-1028; Gersten v. Senkowski (2d Cir. 2005) 426 F.3d 588, 594-15 596; Michael T. v. Commissioner of Corrections (2010) 122 Conn.App. 416, 16 423-425.) His reliance is misplaced, as here there were no medical findings
17 to challenge. His assertion that Detective Lopez’s understanding of SART 18 protocol is a “medical opinion” is incorrect. Regardless of whether 19 Detective Lopez should have ordered physical examinations, he did not do 20 so, and we will never know whether either girl suffered vaginal injury (e.g., 21 tears or scratches) indicative of penetration. The most a medical expert 22 could testify to is that if the girls’ testimony was truthful, examinations 23 likely would have revealed injury. Ross admits “[w]e don’t know for sure 24 whether the evidence produced by the medical exam would have exonerated 25 [him].” Oliver presumably realized medical expert testimony would not be 26 exculpatory or add measurably to Ross’s defense, because with or without it, 27 the case hinged on the credibility of the girls’ testimony. Under these 28 circumstances, we cannot say Oliver’s representation fell below an objective standard of reasonableness. (Strickland, supra, 466 U.S. at p. 688.)

Further, even if Oliver arguably erred, Ross has not shown prejudice.
“An error by counsel, even if professionally unreasonable, does not warrant setting aside the judgment of a criminal proceeding if the error had no effect on the judgment.” (Strickland, supra, 466 U.S. at p. 691.) “The defendant must show that there is a reasonable probability that, but for counsel’s unprofessional errors, the result of the proceeding would have been different. A reasonable probability is a probability sufficient to undermine confidence in the outcome.” (Id. at p. 694.)

Oliver elicited testimony from Christina Schultz, who conducted the girls’ forensic interviews at Palomar Hospital, that the hospital has a 1 physical examination unit located near the forensic interview unit, and at the 2 conclusion of an interview a team may recommend that the child be 3 examined, even if the alleged abuse occurred months or years before.

4 Schultz's notes showed an examination was recommended for Breanna, but 5 not for Hannah. Obviously, an examination would not have been 6 recommended unless it was possible for injury to be detected long after it 7 was inflicted, and thus Schultz's testimony belied Detective Lopez's 8 testimony. Oliver emphasized the lack of physical evidence, but the girls' 9 testimony was overwhelming. [¶] The petition is denied.

8 (Lodgment No. 9, In re Ross, No. D069126, slip op. at 2-3, ECF No. 8 Attach. #13.)

9 For the following reasons, the Court finds the determination by the state court that 10 defense counsel was not deficient in failing to call an expert and Ross was not prejudiced 11 by that decision, is objectively reasonable within the meaning of 28 U.S.C. § 2254(d), as 12 are the factual findings upon which that determination rests. Testimony was presented at 13 trial from Christina Schultz, the person who interviewed the victims, that because Hannah 14 alleged digital penetration of her vagina there was a possibility that a physical 15 examination could reveal tearing, scarring, or DNA evidence which could have been used 16 to confirm her allegations. (Lodgment No. 2, Rep.'s Appeal Tr. vol. 3, 362, 366-68, Apr.
17 1, 2014, ECF No. 8 Attach. #5.) She said a physical examination can confirm a child's 18 allegations and that one was recommended for Breanna but not conducted. (Id. at 365-19 68.)

20 Detective Lopez testified that he was in charge of scheduling the interviews of the 21 children, and scheduled them for nine days after the allegations were made. (Lodgment 22 No. 2, Rep.'s Appeal Tr. vol. 2, 312, Mar. 28, 2014, ECF No. 8 Attach. #4.) He testified 23 that he did not refer either victim for a physical examination because “[b]ased on my 24 experience and my training, after the nine days, the chance of getting any kind of touch 25 DNA or any kind of DNA or physical findings is very limited.” (Id. at 313.) He said 26 protocol requires that any allegation of molestation over seventy-two hours old “needs to 27 be vetted and looked at as far as what kind of sexual molestation it relates to. [¶] And, 28 also, victims this young, I don't like to send victims for medical examinations if I don't

1 believe there's going to be findings based on the fact that you're traumatizing young 2 children with these medical examinations." (Id.)

3 On cross-examination, Detective Lopez was asked again why there were no 4 physical examinations conducted, and said, "Because the information I got from the 5 forensic interviews of the girls, what they said had actually occurred, it had been nine 6 days past the time where the actual allegations had been made on the 21st. [¶] I just 7 didn't think that it would be relevant at that point in time, that there would be any kind of 8 evidence collected." (Id. at 318-19.) Under further questioning by defense counsel, 9 Lopez testified it was possible that a physical examination might have determined or 10 detected evidence of sexual abuse, and that he could not be certain one way or the other 11 as it depends on numerous factors. (Id. at 319-22.) When asked by defense counsel if a 12 physical examination could have been performed within seventy-two hours, Detective 13 Lopez stated, "It could have, but I did not have the facts of the case. I did not know the 14 level of the allegations until the children were actually forensically interviewed." (Id. at 15 324.) He also said that as far as he knew no parent requested a physical examination, 16 although he said he did not speak to any parent, as he never speaks "to witnesses, victims 17 or family members on how to direct my investigation." (Id. at 321.)

18 Defense counsel argued to the jury in closing:

19 Now, it would have been nice - - it would have been so nice if we had 20 a medical examination. It would have been so nice if we had some kind of 21 medical findings in this case to help shed some light on what happened.

22 It would be nice because the medical findings - - we would not have 23 to kind of sift through those to see if those are telling the truth or if those are 24 lying. Those would have been concrete. [¶] Unfortunately, we don't have 25 those. Now, when Detective Lopez was questioned, "why didn't you do any 26 medical findings?" he kind of gave me the runaround.

27 "Well," he said, "there's a 72-hour rule. And, you know, I don't order 28 them if it's beyond 72 hours because I don't believe that they're going to yield significant results." [¶] Well, then why did you schedule the interview for nine days later? [¶] Why would you do that? [¶] We know that these medical examinations can be done any time at these hospitals. [¶] So then

1 why would you wait until you believe that there may not be any physical 2 evidence? [¶] Why? [¶] Unless you did not believe that a physical 3 examination would yield any evidence based upon what you heard in those 4 particular interviews and what you knew about the case.

5 Even after Breanna had her interview, the team met - - that team 6 included Detective Lopez and, they said, I think - - Miss Schultz said, I 7 think, that maybe she should have a medical examination done. [¶] It could 8 have been conducted right down the hall, right then. We could have got to 9 the bottom of this. No medical examination at all.

10 Now, it's funny how Detective Lopez said that there's this 72-hour 11 rule, but then, when Miss Schultz was questioned, she said that she's seen 12 medical examinations ordered for kids who disclose about a - - less abuse 13 that happened days, weeks, months, even years prior. [¶] Why would 14 anyone order a medical evaluation years after the alleged incident if they 15 didn't think they could find anything? [¶] Why? [¶] Because they know 16 that, if you do a medical examination, you can still find evidence that 17 something has occurred. [¶] Detective Lopez says, "Well, I will only order 18 them after the 72 hours if there was something that I believe happened." [¶] 19 And you have his testimony. You can ask for it back. [¶] He said, "I'll 20 order it after 72 hours if I believe something happened."

21 But, after the interviews, even though the team said, "maybe we 22 should have one," he never ordered one. He never ordered one, despite the 23 fact that he said that he has done so in the past if he believed something 24 happened.

25 We also found out from Miss Schultz that not only does law 26 enforcement - - is it their responsibility to make the request for the medical 27 examination, but she also said that the parents - - that they have a say-so in 28 whether or not a medical examination is going to be done. Yet, no medical 29 examination [was] done in this case.

30 (Lodgment No. 2, Rep.'s Appeal Tr. vol. 3, 563-65, Apr. 3, 2014, ECF No. 8 Attach. #5.)

31 Petitioner presents a declaration from his trial counsel stating that on March 31, 32 2014, after the victims testified but before their interviews were played for the jury, she 33 consulted with two fellow deputy public defenders in her office regarding Detective 34 Lopez's failure to order medical examinations. (Traverse Attach. #3, 1, ECF No. 9.)

1 Based on that consultation, defense counsel that same day spoke with Dr. Deborah 2 Fitzgerald, an obstetrician and gynecologist, who said it was unusual for a physical 3 examination not to have been performed in this case, and if it had “there most likely 4 could have been physical findings if there in fact had been sexual penetration especially 5 with a penis. However, since one was not ordered, no one would be able to say there 6 were injuries consistent or inconsistent with the allegations.” (Id. at 9-10.) Counsel 7 states:

8 Since there was no physical examination ordered, I did not call Dr.
9 Deborah Fitzgerald or any other medical doctor to talk about the lack of a 10 physical examination because there was no evidence for a doctor to explain 11 or challenge. I made the tactical decision to cross exam the prosecution 12 witnesses on the lack of physical examinations and argue the points on that 13 topic in closing arguments.

14 (Id. at 10.)

15 The jury was instructed that even slight penetration is sufficient to convict Petitioner 16 on the penetration counts. (Lodgment No. 2, Rep.’s Appeal Tr. vol. 3, 484, Apr. 2, 2014, 17 ECF No. 8 Attach. #5.) Ross was acquitted on the charge he penetrated Hannah’s vagina 18 with his finger, the only allegation of penetration with Hannah. (Lodgment No. 1, Clerk’s 19 Tr. vol. 2, 0443, ECF No. 8 Attach. #2.) Of the five counts alleging penetration of 20 Breanna’s vagina, Ross was acquitted of the two which involved his penis, and found guilty 21 of the two which involved his finger and the one which involved the silver dildo, all of 22 which the jury found to have occurred between June 1, 2011 and May 21, 2012. (Id. at 23 0451, 0454, 0456, 0459, 0462.) Thus, Ross was acquitted of half the penetration counts, 24 all of which were alleged to have occurred within a year of the girls’ forensic interviews.

25 Those verdicts were consistent with the girls’ testimony. When Hannah was asked 26 to explain how Ross touched the inside part of her bikini area with his hand, she said: “I 27 don’t really know how to describe it. Just touched me there.” (Lodgment No. 2, Rep.’s 28 Appeal Tr. vol. 2, 186-87, Mar. 27, 2014, ECF No. 8 Attach. #4.) When examining Breanna about how Ross touched her, the prosecutor asked, “On the times that he would

1 use his hands to touch your private, did he touch the outside or the inside of your private.
2 Do you remember?” and she answered, “I think it was only the outside, maybe.” (Id. at 3 105.) When asked similar questions, she answered, “I’m pretty sure the outside,” and “I 4 think on the outside.” (Id. at 110-11.) She testified that he put the silver dildo inside her 5 private part. (Id. at 115.) During her interview, Breanna said Ross put his finger inside
6 her private part. (Lodgment No. 1, Clerk’s Tr. vol. 1, 0170, 0174, ECF No. 8 Attach. #1.)

7 Petitioner presents several declarations in an attempt to rebut the strong 8 presumption that defense counsel made a reasonable tactical decision to challenge the 9 prosecution witnesses on the lack of physical examinations and argue to the jury that 10 physical examinations could have obviated the need to determine if the children were 11 telling the truth or lying, rather than call an expert to essentially repeat what Schultz and 12 Detective Lopez had admitted on cross-examination. First is the declaration of his 13 current counsel in this matter, who also represented Ross in his state habeas proceedings, 14 and whose firm represented him on the new trial motion. (Traverse Attach. #4 Decl.
15 Ford, ECF No. 9.) Counsel states that Dr. Fitzgerald told him that if she had been asked 16 by Petitioner’s counsel, she would have said a medical examination should be conducted 17 any time a child claims to have been vaginally penetrated because the examination would 18 likely show signs of scarring even if DNA, semen, and saliva would no longer be 19 available. (Id. at 2-3.)

20 Petitioner presents a declaration from Dr. Steven Gabaeff, a physician specializing 21 in child abuse cases and a past supervisor of the San Diego SART program, who opines 22 that Detective Lopez opted not to have the victims undergo physical examinations “for 23 reasons that do not comport with medical or police practices,” and that he compounded 24 that error by making the decision without consulting the SART team or the lead 25 physician. (Id., Attach. #3 Decl. Gabaeff 3, ECF No. 9.) In Dr. Gabaeff’s opinion the 26 nine-day delay, during which the children lived with adults harboring significant animus 27 toward Ross, subjected the victims to suggestions and amplification of the allegations 28 against Ross which became “true” in their minds, as shown by Breanna thrice reporting

1 things she was told by Hannah as if they had happened to her. (Id. at 3-4.) He states that 2 even if penetration occurred months earlier, “[a]bsent evidence of penetration, their 3 stories of penetration would be shown to be false.” (Id. at 6.) Finally, he states that “[i]f 4 the defendant committed the acts he was accused of, it is virtually certain the medical 5 exam would have shown it.” (Id.)

6 Finally, Petitioner presents a declaration from Robert Boyce, a criminal defense 7 attorney with experience in child abuse cases, who states that the decision by Petitioner’s 8 trial counsel “not to call a medical doctor was not a reasonable tactical decision.” (Id., 9 Attach. #3 Decl. Boyce 12, 14, ECF No. 9.) He opines that “[r]easonably competent 10 counsel in the present situation would have presented a medical expert to explain to the 11 jury that a medical exam would likely have shown whether the girls’ allegations of 12 penetration were true or false.” (Id. at 14.) He concludes that such evidence could be 13 used to argue bias on the part of Detective Lopez, and “[i]n fact, the law provides that the 14 state’s failure to collect or preserve important evidence may, by itself, be sufficient to 15 establish reasonable doubt and the jury may be instructed on that point. (See, People v.
16 Wimberly (1992) 5 Cal.App.4th 773, 793.)” (Id.)

17 Although testimony was presented at trial by Christina Schultz and Deputy Lopez 18 that a physical examination of the victims might have revealed evidence Ross penetrated 19 their vaginas with his finger, or Breanna’s vagina with his penis or the silver dildo, they 20 also acknowledged that the examinations might be equivocal or produce no evidence, and 21 that it was impossible to say. Ross argues his defense would have been bolstered had 22 counsel called an expert such as Dr. Gabaeff to testify that it is “virtually certain” that 23 “their stories of penetration would be shown to be false” if a physical examination had 24 been conducted and no injuries consistent with penetration observed. (Traverse Attach.
25 #3 Decl. Gabaeff 6, ECF No. 9.) He further argues that “cross-examination of a hostile, 26 unqualified police officer is no substitute for expert testimony from a neutral, qualified 27 medical doctor.” (Id., Attach. #3 Decl. Boyce 14.)

28 ///

1 As Petitioner concedes (see Pet. Attach. #2 Mem. 33, ECF No. 1), and the state 2 court observed, because no physical examinations were conducted, it is impossible to 3 know what they would have shown, if anything. It was reasonable for defense counsel, 4 after consulting with Dr. Fitzgerald, to rely on the testimony of Schultz and Detective 5 Lopez that the allegations of penetration might have been confirmed or contradicted by a 6 physical examination, and then argue it was unfortunate, and suspicious, that no physical 7 examinations were conducted despite Schultz's recommendation. Defense counsel took 8 advantage of Detective Lopez's failure to order physical examinations to argue to the jury 9 that he did not believe the girls' allegations because he was aware a physical examination 10 could detect injuries arising from such allegations months later, and could be used to 11 confirm the allegations or expose them as false. Petitioner has not shown counsel was 12 deficient in this respect. See Strickland, 466 U.S. at 689 ("There are countless ways to 13 provide effective assistance in any given case. Even the best criminal defense attorneys 14 would not defend a particular client in the same way.")

15 Although Petitioner contends a doctor testifying as an expert would be more 16 authoritative than a social worker and a police officer, defense counsel was aware of that 17 distinction because she spoke with Dr. Fitzgerald before deciding not to call an expert. In 18 addition, defense counsel testified at the new trial motion that she retained Dr. Eisen, a 19 child psychologist, and discussed the girls' testimony with him immediately after they 20 testified. (Lodgment No. 2, Rep.'s Appeal Tr. vol. 4, 675-76, Sept. 26, 2014, ECF No. 8 21 Attach. #6.) Thus, her decision was based on consultation with Dr. Fitzgerald, a medical 22 expert similar to the one Ross contends should have been called to testify, and with a 23 child psychologist. Accordingly, Petitioner's contention that the decision not to call an 24 expert was based on a failure to investigate, (see Pet. Attach. #2 Mem. 19-24, ECF No.
25 1), is not supported by the evidence. Ross has not shown deficient performance. See 26 Strickland, 466 U.S. at 690 ("[S]trategic choices made after thorough investigation of law 27 and facts relevant to plausible options are virtually unchallengeable[.]")

28 ///

1 Petitioner contends that counsel should have called an expert witness to testify that 2 it was “virtually certain” a physical exam would have proved or disproved the allegations 3 of penetration as Dr. Gabaeff opined, rather than that it was merely “possible” to do so as 4 Schultz and Deputy Lopez testified. (Pet. Attach. #2 Mem. 31-32, ECF No. 1.)
5 Additionally, defense counsel could have asked the trial court to instruct the jury that 6 they were permitted to draw an adverse inference from the failure to preserve that 7 evidence, and that such an inference may by itself be sufficient to raise a reasonable 8 doubt as to Petitioner’s guilt. (Id.) California law provides that such an instruction may 9 be appropriate where there is willful destruction or failure to preserve evidence. See 10 Wimberly, 5 Cal. App. 4th at 793, 7 Cal. Rptr. 2d at 263-65 (citing People v. Sassounian, 11 182 Cal. App. 3d 361, 395, 226 Cal. Rptr. 880, 898 (1986)). Ross appears to argue that 12 the failure to preserve evidence was willful because it was unreasonable for Deputy 13 Lopez to wait nine days before arranging for the victims to be interviewed while at the 14 same time saying the interviews provide the information he needs to make the decision 15 whether to refer the victims for physical examinations. (Pet. Attach. #2 Mem. 32, ECF 16 No. 1.) Schultz testified that injuries from penetration could be revealed months or years 17 after the alleged abuse. The expert opinion offered by Ross says the same thing. Thus, 18 the decision to wait nine days for the interviews does not amount to a failure to preserve 19 evidence, willful or otherwise.

20 Based on an assessment of defense counsel’s “overall performance throughout the 21 case,” the Court finds Petitioner has not “overcome the presumption that [his] counsel 22 rendered reasonable professional assistance.” Kimmelman, 477 U.S. at 386. In light of 23 the admonishment by the Supreme Court that “[t]he standards created by Strickland and 24 [section] 2254(d) are both ‘highly deferential’ . . . and when the two apply in tandem, 25 review is ‘doubly’ so,” Richter, 562 U.S. at 105 (citations omitted), the Court finds that 26 the state court determination that defense counsel was not deficient in failing to present 27 expert testimony is neither contrary to, nor an unreasonable application of, clearly 28 established federal law, and is not based on an unreasonable determination of the facts in

1 light of the evidence presented in the state court proceedings. See Richter, id. (“When 2 § 2254(d) applies, the question is not whether counsel’s actions were reasonable. The 3 question is whether there is any reasonable argument that counsel satisfied Strickland’s 4 deferential standard.”)

5 The Court reaches the same conclusion as to prejudice. In rejecting Ross’s 6 assertion he was prejudiced by the failure to call an expert to testify that Detective Lopez 7 violated protocol in ignoring Schultz’s recommendation for a physical examination, and 8 to rebut Detective Lopez’s opinion that it was unlikely a physical examination would 9 reveal injuries in this case, the state court observed, “Obviously, an examination would 10 not have been recommended unless it was possible for injury to be detected long after it 11 was inflicted, and thus Schultz’s testimony belied Detective Lopez’s testimony. Oliver 12 emphasized the lack of physical evidence, but the girls’ testimony was overwhelming.”
13 (Lodgment No. 9, In re Ross, No. D069126, slip op. at 3, ECF No. 8 Attach. #13.)

14 As set forth above, the jury was instructed that even slight penetration is sufficient 15 to convict Ross on the penetration counts, and the verdicts were consistent with the girls’ 16 testimony and statements regarding penetration. The significance of expert testimony 17 that physical examinations would have been virtually certain to prove or disprove 18 whether penetration occurred was lessened by the girls’ trial testimony that they did not 19 think they were penetrated or were unsure if they were. The only trial testimony 20 concerning penetration was Breanna’s testimony that Ross put the silver dildo inside her 21 private part, and the only other evidence of penetration was her statement during the 22 forensic evidence that he put his finger inside her private part. Because there is nothing 23 in the record to undermine the state court determination that the testimony of the victims 24 constituted overwhelming evidence of guilt, the state court determination of a lack of 25 prejudice is neither contrary to, nor involves an unreasonable application of, Strickland, 26 and is not based on an unreasonable determination of the facts in light of the evidence 27 presented in the state court proceedings. See Strickland, 466 U.S. at 699 (finding lack of 28 prejudice from overwhelming evidence); Murray v. Schriro, 882 F.3d 778, 825 (9th Cir.

1 2018) (“[T]he overwhelming evidence of guilt forecloses any credible argument that the 2 outcome of the trial would have been affected by the proffered exculpatory evidence.”)

3 The state court determination of lack of prejudice based on the manner in which 4 defense counsel dealt with the lack of physical evidence and failure to conduct physical 5 examinations is also objectively reasonable. As discussed above, defense counsel argued 6 to the jury in closing that (1) physical examinations of the girls would have obviated the 7 need for the jury to decide if they were telling the truth or lying; (2) it was suspicious that 8 Detective Lopez did not order examinations and was inconsistent in his answers and 9 reasons for failing to do so; and (3) they could draw a reasonable conclusion that 10 Detective Lopez did not believe the girls’ allegations. (Lodgment No. 2, Rep.’s Appeal 11 Tr. vol. 3, 563-65, Apr. 3, 2014, ECF No. 8 Attach. #5.) Counsel therefore took 12 advantage of the lack of physical examinations to argue they would have obviated the 13 need for the jury to rely on a determination of whether the children were telling the truth; 14 counsel also argued that the failure to conduct examinations, combined with other 15 challenges to the girls’ veracity, raised doubt as to the integrity of the prosecution’s case.
16 Those other challenges included that the children were susceptible to manipulation by 17 their parents, in particular by Allan who repeatedly asked Breanna if Petitioner had 18 touched her, just waiting for her to say yes for “the ultimate payback” to Ross for ending 19 Allan’s marriage and interfering with his parental rights by threatening to take his child 20 out of state. (Id. at 558-60.) Counsel also argued that Melissa joined Allan in disliking 21 Ross, pointed out that Melissa admitted she never liked or trusted Ross and always 22 thought something was off about him, and that Tami initially believed Ross but only 23 changed her mind when it appeared she might lose custody of her daughter to Allan and 24 Melissa. (Id. at 558-59, 567-68.)

25 As Petitioner concedes and the state court observed, it will never be known what 26 physical examinations would have revealed. The allegations of penetration by the girls 27 were weak, as they were insufficient to support convictions on the four counts alleging 28 penetration by Ross’s penis, and defense counsel argued that physical examinations

1 should have been conducted and would have been but for Detective Lopez’s suspicious 2 and unaccountable intervention. The state court reasonably found that very little would 3 have been added to the efficacy of the defense if expert testimony had been offered that it 4 is “virtually certain” the allegations of penetration would have been verified or proven 5 false by physical examinations. As Respondent pointed out in the state habeas 6 proceedings, the penetration alleged by the victims included not just digital penetration 7 but penetration of very young girls by the penis of a large adult, and the expert opinion 8 offered by Petitioner that injuries would be virtually certain relied at least in part on such 9 penetration, which the jury ultimately rejected. (Lodgment No. 7, In re Ross, No.
10 D069126, 6-7⁴ (informal response), ECF No. 8 Attach. #11.) In any case, Schultz and 11 Detective Lopez both testified that even digital penetration could leave evidence in the 12 form of scratches or tearing weeks or months later, and Detective Lopez testified that his 13 decision to not order physical examinations was also based on the fact that the victims 14 did not mention such injuries during their interviews. (Lodgment No. 2, Rep.’s Appeal 15 Tr. vol. 2, 320-22, 325-26, Mar. 28, 2014, ECF No. 8 Attach. #4; id. vol. 3, 367, 374, 16 Apr. 1, 2014, ECF No. 8 Attach. #5.)

17 In light of the nature of the testimony regarding penetration and the fact that the 18 victims did not report physical injuries, that Petitioner was acquitted on the counts of 19 penetration with his penis, and the manner in which defense counsel handled the lack of 20 physical findings, it was objectively reasonable for the state court to find that Ross was 21 not prejudiced by the failure to present expert testimony that the penetration alleged by 22 the victims was virtually certain to be confirmed or disconfirmed by physical 23 examination. See Strickland, 466 U.S. at 694 (holding that in order to show prejudice, a 24 petitioner must demonstrate “a probability sufficient to undermine confidence in the 25 outcome[.]”); see also Richter, 562 U.S. at 110 (“Representation is constitutionally 26

1 ineffective only if it ‘so undermined the proper functioning of the adversarial process’
2 that the defendant was denied a fair trial.’’) (quoting Strickland, 466 U.S. at 686). Neither 3 is there any basis to find that the factual findings upon which the state court’s 4 adjudication of Petitioner’s claim rests are objectively unreasonable. Miller-El, 537 U.S.
5 at 340.

6 Cognizant of the admonishment by the Supreme Court that “[t]he standards created 7 by Strickland and [section] 2254(d) are both ‘highly deferential’ . . . and when the two 8 apply in tandem, review is ‘doubly’ so,” Richter, 562 U.S. at 105 (citation omitted), the 9 Court finds that federal habeas relief is unavailable because the state court adjudication of 10 Petitioner’s claim is neither contrary to, nor involves an unreasonable application of,
11 clearly established federal law, and is not based on an unreasonable determination of the 12 facts in light of the evidence presented in the state court proceedings. The Court
13 RECOMMENDS the Petition be DENIED.

14 C. Whether Petitioner has shown that 28 U.S.C. § 2254(d) is applicable

15 Finally, Petitioner argues that the deference required by 28 U.S.C. § 2254(d) is not 16 applicable here because the fact-finding process by the state appellate court was deficient 17 under Taylor v. Maddox, 366 F.3d 992, 1000-01 (9th Cir. 2004) (construed in Murray v.
18 Schriro, 745 F.3d 894, 999-1000 (9th Cir. 2014)), as the state court failed to consider his 19 habeas reply brief and request for oral argument. (Pet. Attach. #2 Mem. 34-37, ECF No.
20 1.) Specifically, he challenges the state court finding that defense counsel “presumably 21 realized medical expert testimony would not be exculpatory or add measurably to Ross’s 22 defense,” arguing his “reply brief explains exactly how the medical testimony would 23 have been devastating to the state’s case, as the jury would have been informed it was 24 ‘virtually certain’ the tests would have shown whether or not the girls had been 25 penetrated.” (Id. at 35.) He contends the state court erred in finding that “it was 26 possible” an injury could be detected long after it was inflicted, whereas his state court 27 reply brief pointed out that was an understatement. (Id.) Finally, he takes exception to 28 the state court finding that the girls’ testimony was overwhelming, arguing that his reply

1 brief pointed out the inconsistencies in their testimony, that Breanna and Allan 2 acknowledged that Hannah was known to lie, and that Schultz did not believe some of 3 Breanna's claims. (Id. at 35-36.)

4 The Court in Taylor found that the failure of the state court "to consider, or even 5 acknowledge, . . . highly probative testimony cast[] serious doubt on the state-court fact-6 finding process," which required the federal habeas court "to set those findings aside and 7 . . . make new findings." Taylor, 366 F.3d at 1005-08. But Ross's appellate court habeas 8 petition, which is titled "Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus with Memorandum of 9 Supporting Points and Authorities and Exhibits," contains the following internal passage:

10 Dr. Gabaeff concludes "there can be no excuse for not conducting the 11 medical exam after two young girls claimed to have been vaginally 12 penetrated multiple times. If the defendant committed the acts he was 13 accused of, it is virtually certain the medical exam would have shown it."
(Exh. A, p. 5.) "Absent evidence of physical penetration, their stories of 14 penetration would be shown to be false." (Exh. A, p. 5.)

15 (Lodgment No. 6, In re Ross, No. [D069126] (petition for writ of habeas corpus at 11), 16 ECF No. 8 Attach. #10.) Two nearly identical passages are repeated in the petition. (Id.
17 at 23, 32.) Ross also pointed out that the testimony of the girls contained inconsistencies, 18 that both Breanna and Allan acknowledged that Hannah was known to lie occasionally, 19 and that Schultz did not believe some of Breanna's claims. (Id. at 7, 9, 36.)

20 Thus, the arguments and declaration of Dr. Gabaeff Petitioner contends were not 21 considered by the appellate court on habeas because they were contained in the rejected 22 reply brief, were in fact before the appellate court when it considered his habeas petition.
23 Ross has failed to show the state court failed to consider any argument or evidence 24 presented in the state court proceedings. Furthermore, there is no support for his 25 contention that the state court's failure to consider his request for oral argument in his 26 reply brief precludes application of the standards set forth in 28 U.S.C. § 2254(d). The 27 Court therefore recommends rejecting Petitioner's contention that 28 U.S.C. § 2254(d) is 28 not applicable in this proceeding.
